TOOK A TRIP HOME.

White Tells How He Spent $300 of Lorimer Money.

Chicago, June 14.—Cross-examination of Representative Charles A. White, who accuses Representative Lee O'Neil Browne of bribery to bring about the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate began at noon today. Attorney Forest at once began interrogations concerning the witness' life, before he was elected to the legislature, apparently preparing the ground for adverse character testimony later.

Near the end of his direct testimony when he was enumerating small debts which he had paid out of the alleged bribe money, White said he had spent $300 of the "Lorimer" money to visit his parents in Tennessee.

"Why do you call it 'Lorimer money'?" Judge McSweeney interposed.

"Why I meant the money I got to vote for Lorimer."

State's Attorney Wayman asked White if he had any conversations with Browne on trips taken by the two across Lake Michigan.

"Oh, yes."

"Browne said people were bothering him because they expected Senator Lorimer to get jobs for them."

White said he was earning about $68 a month in St. Louis, but when he went to Springfield as a lobbyist for the street carmen's union he was paid $6 a day for every day of the session of the legislature.

WILL NEED MEN.

Kansas Wheat Field Owners Send Up a Call.

Charles Harris, director of the state free employment bureau, says that the call for harvest hands increases every day, and that it will be impossible to supply the men now called for. According to what the correspondents of the bureau report, the wheat crop has developed within the past few days in a manner which has both astonished and surprised the most experienced farmers.

In many places where wheat fields were thought to be utterly worthless, so far as this year's crop was concerned, and which would have been plowed up and sown to some other crop had it not been for wet weather or some other circumstance, the wheat has since developed until now, fields which promised not enough grain to pay for cutting, promise thirty to forty bushels an acre, and some instances even more. And this where a crop worth cutting was not expected. This is accounted for because of the peculiar weather, say those most observant.

"YOU MAN OF DRUGS!"

One correspondent, in referring to this peculiarity of the crop season, states that it is caused by the continuous cool and wet weather, which has had a wonderful effect on wheat and blue grass in particular. He says that the people in the city can verify this when they look at their lawns now and compare them with what they were a few days or weeks ago. In many places, this correspondent states, the wheat had been supposed to be killed by the peculiar winter weather through what little wheat showing above ground being of a yellow color and supposed to be dead, much of it lying uprooted on the surface.

AT THE CIRCUS.

Two Large Audiences See John Robinson Shows.

The Robinson shows is a small circus on a large plan. It has all the earmarks of a big circus—even the steam calliope—but in its performance under the canvas there is a noticeable attempt to stretch a two-ring show into a three-ring circus.

The show given to a good crowd last night was given to the best of them, and the audience could see and appreciate the acts without the bewilderment attendant upon the scenes of the monster aggregations.

A few departures from the old and worn track were also appreciated. Mr. Robinson himself sits among the spectators and watches his show closely every performance. His employees are all polite and courteous. Many of the disagreeable features that accompany big shows were absent last night, because the employees knew that Robinson was mixing with the crowds.

Robinson himself is the hardest working man with the show. He is an interesting character. His grandfather started the show over eighty years ago with a couple of wagons, a monkey and a clown. Speaking of this season's business Mr. Robinson declared that he had done well in spite of the bad weather. "The farmers of west surely have the money this year," he said. "I never had such big crowds since I have been in the business."

Mr. Robinson had a pleasant experience while in Topeka. A Mr. Hudson, living near the city, yesterday brought him a can of maple syrup made on his farm. "You don't know me, Mr. Robinson," the Shawnee farmer, "but twenty years ago I was a canvasser with your grandfather."

Robinson was delighted to have this reminder of the old days, and to hear the man talk about how well old John Robinson treated all his employees.

Wants Her Child Back.

By an action in the probate court, Mrs. Maud Mamilla, widow of John Maud, is seeking possession of a little child who was contracted to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes several years ago. The child is now 8 years old, is named Maud after her mother, and claims she is mistreated at her home by adoption.

BOWSER'S GROUCH.

He Complains of the Vapidity of Human Nature.

That Mr. Bowser had a grouch was plain to Mrs. Bowser as soon as he entered the door, and she had the policy not to add to it. During dinner she had, very little to say, leaving him to his thoughts, but nevertheless, as they reached the sitting room he turned on her with:

"Mrs. Bowser, as I went to the office this morning at least six people observed to me that it was a fine morning."

"On the car at least six more predicted a hot summer."

"At the office three or four different men said they thought they should take a vacation next month."

"Coming home this evening five men spoke to me about its having been a fine day. I reach home. During the 40 minutes we consumed eating dinner you told me of a dog fight."

"You said you saw ten cats on the back fence at once."

"You said a tramp with a black eye had been here."

Pure water and fresh air means better health; Mr. Chubb is now nearly 80 years old, but works 10 hours a day like a man half as old—he attributes it to drinking nothing but spring water for the last thirty years.

"Mr. Bowser, you forgot yourself," corrected Mrs. Bowser. "Twenty-four years ago today the coffee mill was invented. Previous to that they had to pound coffee in a bag. Don't talk nonsense—froth—vapidity to me!"

Don't Be a June Bug.

A lot of harm has been done by the wide publicity given to the achievements of one John Carter, the former convict poet. The flood of poetry was merely normal when the story of John Carter burst upon a startled world. It is more than normal now. We cited one instance the other day, produced by a lowly member of the Essex street school, and here is another by former Governor Curtis Guild, of Massachusetts, who prints it in large type in his paper:

DON'T BE A JUNE BUG.
The June bug butts in everywhere,
From drawing room to shed;
He always gets the angry stare,
He always bumps his head.

Heyburn Knocks on Pinchot.

Washington, June 14.—In the course of a speech in the senate during debate on the administration land withdrawal bill, Senator Heyburn spoke of ex-Forester Pinchot as an "apostle of fallacy, theory and ignorance."
